Campus Resources ♦ Events ♦ Schedules

Welcome to Stanford!

Stanford Conferences is delighted to welcome your conference to the beautiful Stanford campus. Our goal is to create an exceptionally rewarding experience for you through Stanford's world-class academic resources, comfortable campus housing, award-winning dining, and outstanding customer service.

This guide references the many campus resources and activities available to you during your stay. For additional information, please refer to your Conference Front Desk Welcome flyer and map, or contact your Conference Front Desk staff. Once again, it's a pleasure having you as our valued guest this summer!

Conference ID Card

Upon checking in, you will receive a Conference ID Card for accessing the various resources described in this guide. Validated Conference ID cards must bear the conference's name and dates, as well as the cardholder's name and signature. For verification purposes, the Stanford facilities described in this guide have been given a list of this summer's conferences, along with their corresponding dates. Please note that Conference ID cards are not transferable, and can only be used during the dates of the cardholder's conference.

Please contact service offices directly for scheduling updates, including Independence Day and Labor Day hours and/or closures. Note that the University will formally observe Independence Day on Friday, July 3rd, 2009; consequently, many campus offices and services may be closed on that date.
